The Editor of the Pull Mall. beging his remarks upon the difficulties that are constantly arising between the whites and the native Australians upon an article which appeared in the Fortnightly Heview for June, gives vent to his feelings in such style as at once to suggest Exeter Hall and the Aborigines Protection Society, Mr John Wisker. of Melbourne, the magazine writer relied upon, tukes what cannot but be regarded as a one-sided argument in favour of the blacks. Now, we regard the sentimental bias which refuses to discover anything in fevour of one's own race, in the conflict between races necessitated by the contact of civilisation with barbarism, as one of the silliest and least commendable of all well-meaning forms of philanthropy. There are reasons without number why white men must be presumed to be in the right. especially in places like Queensland and Tasmania; but these allowances are never made by such writers as Mr John Wisker, of Melbourne. Here is a specimen of what Mr Wisker writes of his countrymen who are unfortunate enough

Miklouho-Muclay speaks of the "shameless spoliation "which goes by the name of "trading," and says that reprisals, of massacres so long as that species of "trade "continues. He tells us that the country whose civilisation sends missionaries and the multiplication table together, and who teaches the aborigines the Sacred Scriptures from the point of view of the Book of Joshua. cannot look for good results. So far as the British territory of the Australian-Colonies is concerned, it is not for a moment to be believed that this picture even approaches to a true description of the actual position of affairs. The blacks may often be in the right originally, or think they are so; but these dusky occupants of the Australian wilds have an unfortunate knack of placing themselves in the wrong by unpardonable and crue modes of redressing their imaginary grievances which at once places hem beyond the pale of even civilised warfare. This is a difficulty which Mr. John Wisker does not seem to bave met or provided for in his aweeping attack

Noon. - Kwangtung leaves for Coast have even a smaller chance of justice than on the mainland; and in one sense. he is right; but considering the fact that the traders are deprived of governmental aid, it should be to the interestaof the whites not to provoke the blacks by acts of injustice. It is probably a 2ame which is played with varying success between trader and native; and it is only now and again that the result reaches the ear of civilisation, Mr Wisker puts it, that alcohol plays a very prominent part in the game; and Daylight.—English Mail leaves for Ports | we are inclined to think that he is not far wrong in this, while the arms with which the massacres are carried out are not infrequently supplied by the victims themselves. "Many dastardly deeds perpetrated by whites," writes Mr Wisker, "are hidden for ever from civilised sight and hearing in the vest solitudes of the Pacific ? while we are always certain to hear of every massacre fauch as that recently on the Hermit Includ) which is directed by way of reprisal against the white traders. Now there may be some truth in all this as much as would justify, and almost demand, the active intervention of the naval authorities of England. For this purpose,-viz, the meting out of justice to both traders and natives-we have often thought that a gunbout, commanded by an intelligent officer, would be able to do good service by crnising for a part of the year among these islands. At present it is generallyadmitted that the British Government is merely groping in the dark after instice; and from what we can learn (even making allowance for exaggeration), it is evident to us that all the reparation would not invariably fall to the lot of the traders, as the more Desceable natives would come in occasionably for a share of it. As the Pall Mall somewhat strongly remarks, however, "to adequately police the Southern Seas a kind of European concert is required, for international complications might arise if we were to string up to the vard-arm every sconndrel of a beachcomber whose lust and averice convert a paradise into a pandemonium. This may be true; and it so, the econer this THE question as to how trade in the so-called European concert is effected islands of the Pacific is conducted has the better will it be for all concerned. been more than once raised here, and If the traders are not the terrible insome notion has probably got abroad dividuals described, they will be the first that business is there transacted upon a to essist in bringing about such an system altogether different from that arrangement. EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is satisfactory to find that Hongkong compares rather favorably as regards the proportion of scholars to population, whether in town and country, with other places. We learn that only one-tenth of the towns and villages in the Bombay Presidency are provided with schools, and the proportion of scholars to population there is as low as 1.38 per cent., -our ratio on this head being 4.87 for Victoria and 3.30 for rural districts. The average daily attendance was five-sevenths of the number of scholars on the rolls, and the education of each scholar cost just about one pound sterling per annum (by the encollments), 78 per cent. of which amount was contributed by the State, the remainder being expended from sources not under the control of Government. We are at a disadvantage as to the pecuniary aspects of local education. The of the Bombay figure—ranging between 6 general or cheap than in British Burma. THE CHINA REVIEW. PUBLISHED BI-MONTHLY. TENTH YEAR.

TIHIS Review, which was intended to meet the wants of many students of Chinese caused by the discontinuance of "Notes and Queries on China and Japan," has reached its Tenth Volume. The Review discusses those topics which are uppermost in the minds of students of the "Far East" and about which every intelligent person connected with China or Japan is desirous of acquiring trustworthy information. It includes many interesting Notes and original Papers on the Arts, Sciences, Ethnology, Folklore, Geography, History, Literature, Mythology, Natural History, Antiquities, and Social Manners and Customs, etc., etc., of China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, and the Far East generally. Recently a new departure has been taken, and the Review now gives papers on Trade, Commerce, and Descriptive notes of Travel by well-known writers. It was thought that by extending the scope of the Review in this direction, the Magazine would be made more generally mefal. The Review department receives special attention, and endeavours are made to present a careful and concise record Literature on China etc., and to give critiques embodying sketches of recent works on such topics. A Publishers are requested to for. . . works to "Editor, China Review, care of China Mail Office.

The Notes and Queries are still continued and form an important means of obtaining from and diffusing among students know ledge on obscure points.

The Correspondents' column also affords farther and greater facilities for the interchange of views and discussion of various Original contributions in Chinese, Laun or any of the Modern Languages are teceived. The papers are contributed by the members of the various Consular, the Im perial Customs, and Hongkong Services, and also by the Missionary bodies amongst whom a high degree of Chinese scholarship is assiduously cultivated. Amongst the regular contributors are Drs. Chalmers, Eitel, Bretschneider, Hirth, and Hance, Professor Legge, and Messes Balfour, Watters. Stent, Phillips, MacIntyre, Groot, Jamieson, Faber, Kopsch, Parker, Playfair. Giles, and Piton, -all well-known names, indicative of sound scholarship and thorough mastery of their subject.

The Subscription is fixed at $6.50 per annum, postage included -- payable in ad-Orders for binding volumes will b promptly attended to; Address, "Mana

"All our learned societies should sub scribe to this scholarly and enterprising Its view."-Northern Christian Advocate (V S. "The China Review * * * * has an ex cellent table of contents." -- Celestial Empire. "The Publication always contains subjects of interest to sojourners in the Far East and the present issue will hold favourable if not advantageous comparison, with preceding numbers." - Celestial Empire.

"This number contains several articles ofinterest and value." - North-China Headlet "The present number of this periodical, * * * * opens with a review of the Foreign Trade of China during 1880. This is rather a new departure for a publication which professes to be purely literary; but considering the comparatively small circulation it enjoys at present among the commercial communities of China, we hall the innovation as likely to recommend the Review to the notice of those who take an interest in few matters beyond mercantile pursuits."-

 $oldsymbol{North-China}$ $oldsymbol{Herald.}$ "The China Review for September October | Three hours, .. 50 ets. fully maintains the high standard of excellence which characterises that publication, and altogether forms a very interesting and readable number. Meteorologists will find an interesting and valuable contribution by Dr. Fritsche, on "the Amount of Precipitation (Rain and Snow) of Peking," showing the results of observations made at the Imperial Russian Observatory at Peking, from 1841 to 1880. "Notes on the Dutch Occupation of Formosa," by Mr. Goo. Phillips, contains some interesting information, although much of it is second-hand. The Notices of New Books include a most generous and appreciative review of "The Divine Classic of Nan-Bua," and the Notes and Queries are as usual very interesting."-North-China

Daily News. A substantial and reliable Review which all students of China and the Chinese would do well to patronise."—Chrysanthemum. "The November-December number of the China Review contains less variety than usual, but the few articles are very interesting. The opening paper by Mr Herbert A. Giles on "The New Testament in Chinese" treats of a question that must necessarily be of great importance in the eyes of all missionaries. . . Mr E. H. Parker's "Short Journeys in Szechuen," are continued, and a goodly instalment of these travels in the interior of China is ment given. Mr F. H. Balfour contributes paper of some length entitled "The Em peror Chong, founder of the Chinese Em pire," which will be read with genuin Interest by students of Chinese history A few short notices of New Books and number of Notes and Queries, one of which

"On Chinese Oaths in Western Borne at Java" might appropriately have been produced a separate heading, complete the number."—H.K. Daily Press.

Trubner's Oriental Record contains the following notice of the Ching Review.

The present publication, judging by the number now before us, is intended to occupy a position, as regards China and the neighbouring countries, somewhat simila to that which has been filled in India by the Calcutta Review. The great degree of a tention that has been bestowed of late years upon the investigation of Chinese literature antiquities, and social developments, to say nothing of linguistic studies, has led to the accumulation of important stores of inform ation, rendering some such channel of pub licity as is now provided extremely desir able; and contributions of much interes may fairly be looked for from the members of the foreign consular services, the Chinese Customs' corps, and the missionary body among whom a high degree of Chinese scholarship is now assiduously cultivated and who are severally represented in the first number of the Review by papers highly creditable to their respective authors. Some translations from Chinese novels and plays are marked by both accuracy and fresh ness of style; and an account of the career o the Chinese poet-statesman of the elevently century, Su Tung-p'o, by Mr. E. C. Bowra is not only historically valuable, but is also distinguished by its literary grace. Beside notices of new books relating to China and the East, which will be a useful feature o the Review, if carried out with punctuality and detail, we are glad to notice that

"Notes" and "Queries" are destined to find a place in its pages also. It is to be hoped that this opening for contributions on Chinese subjects may evoke a similar cossor in the field, and that the China Lieving may receive the support necessary to insuring its continuance.
